

COURSE: ARGENTINE LITERATURE

45 clock hours

2 weekly meetings – 1 ½ hours each

Objectives:

- To study core topics and periods in Argentine Literature of the 20th century through intensive readings of masterpieces by Argentine writers
- To learn about and reflect upon aspects of the art, language, history and intellectual life of Argentine culture of the 20th century based on the literary works read and discussed in the course

Contents

This course deals with some of the main Argentine writers of the 20th century such as Roberto Arlt (1900-1942), Jorge Luis Borges (1899-1986), Silvina Ocampo (1903-1993), Julio Cortázar (1914-1984), Juan Gelman (1930), Juan José Saer (1937-1995) and Ricardo Piglia (1941). Their novels, short stories, essays and poems will be read and analyzed in their historical and cultural contexts within Argentine Literature.

Starting from careful reading of their works, the artistic, linguistic, historical and cultural aspects put in the foreground by the texts are considered. In addition, the relationships of these works with relevant events in the artistic, cultural and historical life of 20th-century Argentina are examined.

Intensive reading of the works mentioned in the corpus and the production of comments about them will be central aspects of the classwork during the course. With regard to writers and works, students will be provided with the necessary elements to place them within the framework of Argentine literature and culture, but with the specific objective of contributing to a greater understanding of each writer's work to be studied. The work done on the texts will allow students to deal with them from the perspective of their fields of study.
