SPAN 308J
SPANISH FOR THE HEALTH PROFESSIONAL

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This course is aimed at foreign students with a previous knowledge of Spanish who wish to perfect and specialize their knowledge for use in a professional context.

The goal of this course is for students to become familiarized with medical vocabulary as a work tool and perform fluently in common situations of professional life. Students will learn to communicate correctly with Spanish-speaking patients and their families while at the same time increasing the fluency that will help them to communicate with other health professionals.

STRUCTURE

The focus is essentially practical and communicative, with a focus on both written and spoken Spanish. Activities are based on situations in work life and based on related materials.

The instructor will advise and orient students so they may develop their critical thinking and communication abilities.

The course is divided into the following ten units:

- Presentation of written and auditory material to immerse students in situations and contextualize the vocabulary.
- Various activities aimed at increasing and reinforcing specific vocabulary.
- Controlled conversational activities in pairs or small groups and other more flexible activities (role play, debates, interviews, etc.).
- Review of basic grammatical usage.

In addition to the material mentioned above, we will also view specialized academic articles and news items related to health.
